MARINES IN ACTION ON KOREAN BATTLEFIELDS WITH

"ROCK" MURDOCK

THE FIGHTING GYRENE!!

TWENTY MINUTES LATER, A SKYFUL OF U.S. NAVY COUGARS CAME THRU THE HEAVENS OVERHEAD...

THE LONG SNAKING COMMIE CONVOY WASN'T DIFFICULT TO LOCATE...

THE COUGARS DROPPED THEIR NOSES AND FOLLOWED THEM DOWN TOWARD THE TARGET...

BOMB BLASTS LIFTED THE ENEMY TRUCKS INTO THE AIR AS IF THEY WERE TOY MODELS! AND THOSE THAT WERE LEFT ON THE ROAD, GOT CAUGHT IN A SEA OF NAPALM...

HERE THEY COME BACK, CAP'N, FROM A HARD DAY'S CLOBBERING!

FOX COMPANY OF THE U.S. MARINES
MOVED TOWARD ENEMY TERRITORY!
A RED OBSERVER SPOTTED THE LIVING WALL OF GREEN AND REPORTED IT...

COMMIE ARTILLERY BOOMED AND INCOMING SHELLS BLOSSOMED
IN FRONT OF THE ADVANCING MARINES...

FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES THE SHELLS RAINED... THEN THE BIG GUNS
WERE MUFFLED! AND ACROSS THE BATTLEFIELD MOVED A QUILTED FLOOD OF HOWLING RED INFANTRY...

THOSE ARE FRESH TROOPS,
CAP'N! THE REDS MUST BE GETTING MEN SOME OTHER WAY, NOW THAT THE NAVY CATS KNOCKED OUT THE TRUCK ROAD!

YEAH, ROCK!
BUT NOW THEY'VE STOPPED CHARGING!

BUT THEY WON'T STOP WHEN THEY PILE UP MORE MEN AND
"SUPPLIES!"

THAT'S WHY WE HAVE TO STOP THE SUPPLIES!

CAP'N!

OUR OBSERVER'S SPOTTED HOW
THE REDS ARE GETTING THEIR SUPPLIES!

COME ON,
ROCK...
LET'S GO!

FROM THE TOP OF THE HILL, THE CAPTAIN AND ROCK MURDOCK
SAW THE REDS' SECRET SUPPLY ROUTE...

OUR JETS KNOCKED OUT
THE ROAD, BUT THEY CAN'T KNOCK OUT A RIVER!

BUT WE COULD, ROCK, IF
WE HAD A BULLDOZER!
I'M GOING TO REQUEST ONE
FROM H.Q.!

THE REQUEST WAS GRANTED, AND AN HOUR LATER A BULLDOZER CAME FLOATING DOWN ON TWO CHUTES!

OKAY, SCUTTLEBUTT... YOU'RE BACK ON THE FARM NOW! GET THIS THING PLOWING!

AYE, SIR!

WITH HUNGRY SCOOPS, SCUTTLEBUTT STACY CARVED OUT A NEW BED FOR THE RIVER

THEN HE DAMMED UP THE NATURAL COURSE OF THE RIVER, AND ITS WATERS TURNED FROM THE DIRECTION IT HAD FLOWED FOR CENTURIES, AND FOLLOWED THE NEW RIVER BED CUT OUT FOR IT!

WITHOUT WATER FEEDING INTO THE COMMIES SECTOR, THE ENEMY SUPPLY BOATS, LOADED WITH MEN AND AMMO, WERE LEFT STRANDED IN THE MUD AT THE BOTTOM ALL ALONG THE ENTIRE LENGTH OF THE RIVER BED...

OKAY, GYRENESE! LET'S HIT THE LINE NOW! WITHOUT THEIR SUPPLIES AND REINFORCEMENTS, THEY'RE NO MATCH FOR THE UNITED STATES MARINES!

THE MARINES COME, COMRADE COLONEL!

THEN WE RUN AGAIN! ONE THING WE DO BETTER THAN MARINES IS... RETREAT!

THE HILL

ON the road up from the seaport the signs of war were visible on all hands. Artillery had torn up a good many of the planted fields and dug holes filled with the violent downpours that characterized the area as little else did. But the rainy season was gone, now, and good battle weather prevailed.

Along the road passed guns, all the breeds of field guns there were. For over forty years war had not come to the army that owned the guns. Some, far across the world, had said the owners of the guns couldn't fight. Some said they were soft. Only the owners of the guns knew they weren't soft. In peace they were men; they would be men in war, too, for now they were defending more than themselves. They were defending a people who had called for help.

But even in their own ranks were men who thought the war futile.

They rode along with the main body, scattered here and there throughout its ranks. There are men like these in all wars; some are cowards, some are brave but born scoffers.

The lieutenant was a born scoffer.

He was a first lieutenant and he believed in the aims of the war that had been begun. In the saddle, he rode along quietly, a little grimly, staring at the desolation the enemy had wrought. Here and there a farmer had stayed with his land and could be seen amidst the wreckage of fields and small farmhouse, tilling some undamaged patch to bring in the next crop. The lieutenant believed that the farmer was worthy of being liberated, but he thought that only men of his own kind could do it.

"You don't think we'll make it, Dick?"

The voice came from his left side, from a second lieutenant riding beside him. The second lieutenant was a cheerier sort, and his first name was Jim.

The first lieutenant stared up in surprise.

"Look here, lad," he said. "Don't go reading minds. In a country like this they might put you in the calaboose for it!"

"You don't think we'll make it, do you?" Jim repeated.

Dick smiled, a little sourly. "Frankly, I don't," he said.

"I'm an ordinary guy. I don't mind fighting when I know what I'm fighting for . . . and in this war I know what I'm fighting for. But I don't want to fight under a fake!"

Jim lowered his voice.

"A fake?" he asked, a little shocked.

"Well, what else would you call him?" Dick asked. "He's grandstanding, playing to the bleachers."

"You mean the Colonel?" Jim asked.

Dick nodded.

"Sure," he said. "He's a bigwig, and he probably knows he doesn't have to face the same kind of danger we do."

"But the Colonel organized the outfit!" Jim protested. "We wouldn't even exist as an organized unit if he hadn't resigned one of the biggest jobs in the government to lead us!"

"That's just what I mean,"

Dick said, nodding his head wisely. "He knows they won't want him to put himself in danger, so he'll always have an excuse for keeping out of it. If you want my opinion he just likes to wear a fancy uniform."

"Fancy uniform!" Jim grunted. "Not these, and not his, either. I'll grant you he's been busy, but that's been only because he's been organizing." He glanced around warily. "I heard we're heading into something big."

"Like what?"

"An attack on an enemy fortified position, something almost as tough as the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava!"

They were getting into thick forest, now, with new-cut roads branching out from well-marked intersections. Up ahead and to both sides, sounded, distantly, the crack of rifle fire. The enemy, in slow, dogged retreat had infiltrated the advancing lines and, to some extent had adopted guerilla tactics. From time to time sounded the boom of big guns many miles off.

Suddenly, along the mounted ranks ran a ripple of excitement.

"The Colonel!" Jim said.

Dick turned his head almost negligently. Down from the head of the column rode a thick-set mounted man with a sword swinging from his belt. The column rounded, drew up and paused. An adjutant blew a bugle and the whole line came to attention.

The Colonel rode up to the center, and glanced at his watch.

MUSCULAR ACHES:
A handy helper for instant relief of discomfort that can be aided by gentle, relaxing massage.

"We'll bivouac here, off the road, men," he said, and there was a hint of suppressed tension in his voice. "They've handed us something special, but they'll give us a chance to fill our stomachs before we do." He grinned and there were answering grins from all along the mounted ranks. "Be as silent as you can," he said. "The enemy have snipers all through this area. If everything goes well their main base will be cleared out by tonight. Inspect your weapons after you've chowed and water your horses." He wheeled on his own horse and disappeared down the line.

Dick and Jim dismounted, leading their steeds off the road. Within minutes well-shielded campfires were blazing, only dry twigs being used to cut down the chance of smoke being seen. In between mouthfuls of ration they curried their horses, inspected their arms and looked to the rest of their gear.

Jim glanced up from his last mouthful, and grinned.

"Well, you're taking it pretty calmly," he said to Dick.

Dick shrugged.

"Why not?" he said. "I figure there won't be much danger. There can't be. You don't think they'd let a man as important as the Colonel stick his head into anything really big, do you?"

Jim chuckled.

"That's just the point. In a way you're right . . . but the Colonel's main problem has been getting them to really let us see tough action!"

Dick grunted.

"We'll see," he said grudgingly.

They both went down with the rest of the men to a small stream and brought back water in small canvas watering bags for the horses.

A moment later a bugle sounded.

Every man in the troop sprang to his horse and the cavalcade clattered back onto the road. The guns had all passed by now and from up ahead sounded a continuous and growing sound of artillery fire. Couriers dashed up and down the line carrying orders from the Colonel to the brigade leaders.

Now the ground that had been growing more rocky and tumbled, became hilly. Small valleys appeared almost out of nowhere. Snipers on the crests of the small hills fired at the moving columns and bullets began zipping uncomfortably close. An order came back from the Colonel to deploy off the road and advance behind cover. Like a machine the whole column wheeled and disappeared. Now, up ahead, even the cover was thinning and the sound of firing grew in volume. Shells began bursting overhead, raining down shrapnel, but they were not directed at the column . . . they were enemy fire beyond range.

Minutes later the forest cover had all but disappeared. The riders splashed through a series of small streams and then emerged onto a rising road and debouched in turn upon a wide plain.

Dick, riding next to Jim gasped as his horse topped the rise.

In front of them lay a battlefield, and beyond a series of hills. One of them was heavily fortified and the enemy flag was flying over its summit. Rank on rank of artillery thundered out blasting volleys from right to left, while the enemy replied more weakly but still with effectiveness. Infantry fighting had been engaged but it was indecisive; stubbornly the enemy clung to his positions on the side and top of the hill.

"Looks like it's up to us," Dick said in a low voice.

"That's what the Colonel thinks, too," Jim said quietly.

The column halted. From where they sat in the saddle they could see the Colonel ride out to the very front of the mounted line. He said nothing, for a moment.

Like a great cry the bugle rang out once more. Its notes set the blood of every man a-tingle, and now the Colonel's voice echoed its stirring message.

"Charge!" He cried.

The Colonel's sword leaped from its scabbard in one dazzling motion. Instantly his horse had dashed forward followed by the colors and he was a quarter of the way across the rising slope that led to the hill before his troops could free their own weapons and follow him into the storm of heavy gunfire.

Dick stared in astonishment for a second or two; then he grinned and cried: "Bully for you too, Colonel!" With the rest he plunged forward, his sword wheeling in a sweeping circle, his eyes on the Stars and Stripes, and the distant ranks of the enemy up the hill.

On the Rough Riders swept, led by the man who had resigned the post of Assistant Secretary of the Navy to organize and lead them. On they swept to victory against shot and shell, up San Juan Hill, following their Colonel, Theodore Roosevelt.

Get Rid of UGLY PIMPLES this new easy way!

Amazing new medicated lotion developed by a doctor works wonders by clearing up complexion in one week or less!

DON'T let a bad complexion ruin romance, spoil your fun, cause you to be embarrassed, shy or ashamed. If you suffer from acne, the common external cause of pimples among young people, try this wonderfully effective medicated lotion that was developed by a practicing physician to clear up his own teen ager's complexion after other methods had failed. It has produced astonishing results for many thousands of others. It is GUARANTEED to help you or it won't cost you a single cent!

Doesn't Show On Your Face

Keraplex is a skin-colored lotion (NOT a greasy salve or ointment!) that is quickly absorbed by the skin and gets right down in the pores where its healing and antiseptic ingredients can go to work. After you have applied it, there is no trace left on the surface. In fact, it makes a perfect powder base for girls and a refreshing after shaving lotion for men... actually improves the tone of the skin! It is pleasant and easy to use—leaving your skin soft, clean and fragrant.

Boys and girls—if you have pimples on your shoulders or back, you can avoid embarrassment when they are exposed to view. For Keraplex keeps your shoulders, arms, back and chest wonderfully free from pimples—without soiling clothes, without messiness or greasiness!

Works in SIX Out of SEVEN Cases!

An analysis of RESULTS taken from actual case histories proves that Keraplex is successful in clearing up six of every seven cases of externally caused blackheads and pimples. It tones up the complexion generally, giving it a healthy, radiant glow.

Try This New Method Without Risking A Penny!

Keraplex is GUARANTEED to clear up your skin troubles or there will be NO COST to you whatsoever. If yours happens to be the ONE extra-stubborn case out of seven which Keraplex cannot help in one short week, it will cost you nothing to have tried it. Keraplex is sent to you with that simple, positive GUARANTEE!
